BUILD YOUR SCHEDULE

OPEN HOUSE DEMO CLASSES for

STUDENTS ONLY

Limited Classroom Space (15 Students per class)

	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	10:15 am, 11:00 am, & 11:45 am (Choose 1 or all 3, or see next page for alternative options)
	<input type="checkbox"/>	Environments as crucial parts of the writing process – STEM, ROOM 013 (MAP #13) Assistant Professor, Ryan Ware This demo will introduce the term “environment-selecting-and-structuring practices” (ESSPs) as a key part of the writing process. The ability to create spaces that help us do writing work is just as important as the act of writing, and the spaces we inhabit while we write can both help and hinder the ways in which we are productive. The demo will encourage those in attendance to create their own ESSPs that might, over time, help them become (more) productive as writers.
	<input type="checkbox"/>	Voices: Student Media – Lewis, ROOM 104 (MAP #12) LC TV Station Manager, Lindsey Robinson WLMC Station Manager & Campus Ambassador, Owain Lucas LC Voices Director of Operations, Catherine Brogan This session will give an overview of Landmark College’s media outlets including WLMC Radio, Voices TV, & Voices Magazine. Join us for an interactive presentation about what we do, our mission, and opportunities for growth, development, and leadership. Don’t forget to bring your best radio voice! Hosted by LC Voices Student Leaders.
 <small>SMALL TALK</small>	<input type="checkbox"/>	The Art of Small Talk in Everyday Communication – Lewis, ROOM 102 (MAP #12) Professor, Eric Matte This session introduces phatic communication and the basic principles of starting and holding an introductory conversation. Bring your voice and expect to use it to quickly build relationships with others through an engaging interactive activity.
